Total Minutes of Reading and Fitness Challenge.		Add your weekly reading and fitness minutes for a grand summer total!							Reading Total
									Fitness Total

On the chart above, please fill in the number of minutes you read and the minutes you spent in active or recreational play, for each day. At the end of each week, total the minutes for both reading and fitness activities. The weekly goal is to read for 2 hours each week and spend 2 hours in active play (fitness) each week. Once you have reached your goal for the week stop into the library to claim a scratch off prize ticket. You are only allowed two scratch off tickets per week but you may enter an additional raffle ticket into the final raffle for each additional two hours you read during the week. At the end of the contest total your weekly minutes for reading and fitness. Save your log to turn at the celebration on August ____ for certificates and special prizes. Participants may only win one final raffle prize. In the instance a participant is selected for multiple prizes, he/she can choose one gift and the other will be re-raffled.

The school year has ended, and the long, hot Michigan summer is here. In addition to the challenge of keeping cool, students who do not read consistently over the summer months can lose momentum in improving their reading skills and may not retain the progress they made during the school year; this is known as “summer slide.”

Participating in the Lincoln Park Public Library’s Summer Reading Program is a simple thing you can do to help kids improve their reading skills, vocabulary and develop a love of books. It can help prevent the summer slide for students, and younger children will benefit, too, as reading with infants, toddlers and preschoolers builds the language and pre-reading skills that are the foundation of school success. For very young children and struggling readers, the 20 minutes can be spread throughout the day.

Ready to get started? It’s easy. Visit the library to sign up and get help finding books you and your child will love. Then keep track of your minutes read on the back of this form.
